N.B.A. SILVER ANNIVERSARY SEASON 1970-71

The National Basketball Association was organized on June 6, 1946 as the Basketball Association of America and 11 teams participated in the first season. Only two of those original franchises remain — Boston and New York. In 1948 the B.A.A. became the N.B.A. Maurice Podoloff was the first president of the league and Walter Kennedy its first public relations director. Kennedy became commissioner of the N.B.A. in 1963, succeeding Podoloff.

In its 25 years of existence, the N.B.A. has gained coast to coast acceptance and last year league wide attendance was 5,146,858, an 11.6 percent increase over the previous season. One of the major factors in the league's gaining fan acceptance was the institution of the 24-second rule in the 1954-55 season.

The influx of the superstars, Bill Russell, Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West, Elgin Baylor, Oscar Robertson and the Bucks Lew Alcindor have given great impetus to the progress of the league. A national television contract signed in 1964 brought the excitement of the N.B.A. to even more fans and the league just signed a new contract with the American Broadcasting Company which extends through the 1973 season.

This past year the N.B.A. granted new franchises to Buffalo, Cleveland and Portland, bringing to 17 the number of member clubs. The addition of the expansion teams means that for the first time in its 25-year history, the N.B.A. will have four divisions within the framework of the Eastern and Western Conferences.

AN INFORMAL HISTORY OF THE MILWAUKEE BUCKS

The National Basketball Association awarded a franchise to a Milwaukee group headed by Wesley D. Pavalon and Marvin L. Fishman on January 22, 1968. The date of incorporation for the group called Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services, Inc., was February 5, 1968.

In early April, 1968, Pavalon became chairman of the board of directors and Fishman vice-chairman. Ray A. Patterson was named president. The directors named John E. Erickson vice-president and general manager, Larry Costello head coach, and Tom Nissalke assistant coach. Erickson for nine years had been head basketball coach at the University of Wisconsin, Costello had been a standout N.B.A. player for 12 years, and Nissalke had been assistant cage coach at Tulane.

Milwaukee Professional Sports & Services, Inc. registered 425,000 shares of common stock with the Wisconsin Department of Securities for sale to the public at $5.00 per share in April of 1968. The shares are sold in the over-the-counter market. Today, the corporation has some 4,000 shareholders in Wisconsin and other states.

On May 22, 1968, the new team finally got a name — the Milwaukee Bucks. More than 14,000 fans participated in a name-the-team contest. R. D. Trebilcox of Whitefish Bay, Wis. was one of 45 persons who suggested the name "Bucks" and his reasoning — "Bucks are spirited, good jumpers, fast and agile" — won him a new automobile.

On October 16, 1968, before a crowd of 8,467 including N.B.A. Commissioner J. Walter Kennedy, the Bucks played their first regular season game. The Chicago Bulls, however, were victorious, 89-84. The Bucks first win came in their sixth game, a 134-118 win over the Detroit Pistons on October 31, 1968.

The Bucks went on to win 27 games, second highest ever by an expansion team, and set a home attendance record for a first year team, averaging 6,246 fans in 34 Milwaukee Arena games.

The Bucks finished in last place in the Eastern Division, while the other expansion team, the Phoenix Suns, placed last in the West. The two teams participated in a coin flip to determine draft rights to college basketball's top performer, 7-1 Lew Alcindor of U.C.L.A.

On March 19, 1969, Commissioner Kennedy made the coin flip, Phoenix chose heads, the coin came up tails, and on April 2, 1969, the Bucks signed Alcindor.

Alcindor made his debut in a Bucks uniform on June 22, 1969, in an intra-squad game which attracted 10,482 fans to the Milwaukee Arena. He became an instant super-star, leading the Bucks to a second place finish in the Eastern Division. He was a unanimous choice for rookie of the year and placed second to Jerry West of Los Angeles for league scoring honors with a 28.8 average.

The Bucks won 56 games while losing 26 and then defeated Philadelphia, 4 games to 1, in the first round of the playoffs. However, they fell to the New York Knickerbockers, the eventual N.B.A. champs, in five games.

360,650 fans watched the Bucks in 38 regular season games at the Milwaukee Arena, an average of 9,490 per game.

Following the season the Bucks made their biggest trade to date. Ten-time All Pro Guard Oscar Robertson was obtained from the Cincinnati Royals in exchange for Flynn Robinson and Charlie Paulk.

In a front office change, General Manager John Erickson resigned in order to seek election to political office.

The Bucks bright new era which gleamed last season should continue to grow more brilliant as season number three begins led by the super duo of Alcindor and Robertson.

HEAD COACH LARRY COSTELLO

Lawrence Ronald Costello's basketball teams may lose some ball games, but when they do, it isn't because of lack of preparation. One of the hardest working coaches in sports, Larry brings to his post as head coach of the Bucks the same desire and enthusiasm he exhibited during 12 seasons as a player in the N.B.A.

Starting his third season as the Bucks coach, he saw his ball club jump from a last place finish to a second place spot in the Eastern Division last season. His club almost reversed its first year record of 27-55 as they won 56 and lost only 26 on the way to a playoff spot last year.

Born on July 2, 1931, Larry was a standout for Niagara and was drafted by the Philadelphia Warriors in 1954. He played there for two years before being sold to the Syracuse Nationals where he averaged in double figures five straight seasons and then moved back to Philadelphia with the Syracuse franchise.

An All-Star game participant six times, Larry's .841 career free throw shooting percentage is third best in league history. He led the league's free throwers in 1963 and 1965, and in only two of his 12 years as a player was he not on a team making the playoffs. He has a career scoring average of 12.2 points a game in the N.B.A.

He sat out the 1965-66 season and coached the Minoa (N.Y.) High School team to a conference cage title and then came out of retirement for the 66-67 season and played the following year until an injury to his Achilles tendon ended his playing days.

Larry is married and his wife, Barbara, is a registered nurse. The Costello's have four young daughters: Lesley, 5; Pamela, 3; Coleen, 1; and Amy, who was born last May.

College: U.C.L.A. 1969
How Acquired: Draft, First Round, 1969

Lew came into the N.B.A. as the most publicized and heralded performer in many a cage season. He more than lived up to his notices. His performance lifted the Bucks from the cellar to second place in the Eastern Division. He was a unanimous choice as Rookie of the Year, was named to the Eastern Division All-Star team, and was a second team choice All-Pro and All Defensive. Lew scored 28.8 points a game, second in the league; his .518 field goal percentage was seventh; his 14.5 rebounds was third; and his 3,534 minutes played trailed only San Diego's Elvin Hayes. One anonymous opponent said of him: "He's a whole new force. He doesn't even know how good he can be." Unlike most of the games seven footers, Lew doesn't rely on muscle. He has great maneuverability and on more than one occasion has brought the ball downcourt. He has a variety of shots, favorite of which is the short hook which enemy defenses, whether they be the one, two, or three man variety, have found unstoppable. As the accolades came his way all season long, most of the experts pointed to experience as being the only lacking ingredient in Lew's bag of talents. Now that he has a year of the toughest basketball in the world under his belt, many feel that the time is not too distant when Lew will equal or surpass the dominating roles Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain once had in the N.B.A. The only child of Ferdinand and Cora Alcindor, Lew attended Power Memorial High in New York City and led them to a 95-6 record in four years, five of the losses coming when Lew was a freshman. He went on to gain All American honors at U.C.L.A. as he led the Bruins to three straight national championships. He is the seventh highest scorer in college basketball history and his .639 career field goal percentage is an N.C.A.A. record. His father, who studied at the Julliard School of Music, is a New York transit policeman. At U.C.L.A. Lew maintained a B-minus average majoring in history. His highest scoring game as a pro was 51 against Seattle on Feb. 21, 1970.

OSCAR ROBERTSON

Age: 31 Date of Birth: November 24, 1938
Height: 6-5 Weight: 220
Hometown: Indianapolis, Ind.
High School: Crispus Attucks, Indianapolis, Ind.
College: Cincinnati, 1960
How Acquired: Trade from Cincinnati for Flynn Robinson and Charlie, Paulk, April 21, 1970

The acquisition of Oscar Robertson by the Bucks last April gives the Bucks the greatest playmaker in the history of professional basketball and one who ranks in the top six players in nine other all time categories. Wesley D. Pavalon, chairman of the board of the Bucks, said last spring, shortly after the trade which puts Oscar in a Milwaukee uniform: "I don't think Oscar realizes exactly how good Lew Alcindor is, and I don't think Lew realizes exactly how good Oscar is. They've never played together, and until they do, they won't be able to realize how great this thing can be." Oscar has been named to the Eastern Division All Star team for ten straight years as a starting guard and three times was the MVP of the game, in 1961, 1964, and 1969. He holds five All Star game records including most points scored, 230. In 1964 he was voted the Maurice Podoloff Cup as the Most Valuable Player in the N.B.A. Six times he has led the league in assists and twice in free throw percentage. He was Rookie of the Year in 1960-61. His highest single game point total was 56 against Los Angeles on December 18, 1964. Robertson doesn't feel he'll need a period of adjustment to fit into the Bucks system. "I've been in pro ball a long time and you learn to adjust. You're adjusting to your teammates all the time. It will be a pleasure just to play guard. When you don't have the big man, you have to make adjustments in your game. Playing with Lew should prolong my career." Bucks Coach Larry Costello feels Lew and Oscar will complement each other. "They can't stop Oscar one on one and that will open things up for somebody else if they double team him. He'll help the others get shots." Oscar was born at Charlotte, Tennessee but grew up in Indianapolis where he led Crispus Attucks to the first undefeated season in Indiana basketball, to a 45-game win streak, and to two consecutive state championships. He also ranked 16th scholastically in a class of 171. Moving on to the University of Cincinnati he averaged 33.8 points per game in leading the Bearcats to 89 wins and only nine losses. He is the second leading collegiate scorer of all time, being surpassed this last season by Pete Maravich. Oscar received a B.A. degree in Business Administration from Cincinnati in 1960 and that summer co-captained the U.S. Olympic team which won the Gold Medal at Rome. Oscar is married and the father of three young daughters. Wife Yvonne is also a Cincinnati graduate.

JON McGLOCKLIN

Age: 27 Date of Birth: June 10, 1943
Height: 6-5 Weight: 205
Hometown: Franklin, Indiana
High School: Franklin, Indiana
College: Indiana, 1965
How Acquired: Expansion Draft, 1968, San Diego

Jon added another good season to the one he put in during the Bucks first year in the N.B.A. He was the fourth highest field goal percentage shooter in the league with a 53% completion mark. And though he didn't rank among the free throw percentage leaders due to not having attempted a minimum of 350 tosses, his .854 mark in that category would have placed him second. A third round draft choice of the Cincinnati Royals in 1965, he played there for two seasons and with the San Diego Rockets for a year before being picked by the Bucks in the 1968 expansion draft. A native of Franklin, Indiana, Jon's hometown was famous for the "Franklin Wonder Five" in the early 1920's, one of the nation's top college basketball teams. Jon has a deadly jump shot from the 15 to 20 feet range and has the knack of getting open when the defense gangs up on his teammates. In the Bucks first season Jon led the team in scoring, minutes played, field goals made and attempted and percentage, and free throw percentage. He was the third highest scoring Bucks performer last season in both regular season play and in the playoffs. His biggest scoring night as a professional was 38 points against Detroit at Madison on January 20, 1969. That night he hit 16 of 26 shots from the floor and six of seven from the charity line. His biggest night last season was at Cincinnati on January 28 when he canned 16 of 20 shots from the field and his only free throw attempt for 33 points. At Indiana Jon captained the Hoosiers in both his Junior and Senior years and was a teammate and fraternity brother in Sigma Alpha Epsilon with the Van Arsdale brothers, Dick and Tom, who've also gone on to N.B.A. stardom.

BOB DANDRIDGE

Age: 22 Date of Birth: November 15, 1947
Height: 6-6 Weight: 195
Hometown: Richmond, Virginia
High School: Maggie Walker, Richmond Virginia
College: Norfolk State, 1969
How Acquired: Draft, Fourth Round, 1969

Fourth round draft choices in the N.B.A. fall into the category of long shots, but two selections of that round were the starting forward combination for the Bucks last season, second-year man Greg Smith, and rookie Bob Dandridge. Bob was very impressive in rookie camp a year ago and by the time the regular season started, he was playing a starting role. He performed well enough to be named to the All Rookie team along with teammate Lew Alcindor and many observers believe Bob may have been the Rookie of the Year if Alcindor had not been on the ballot. "He's very fast," says Bucks Coach Larry Costello. "He takes good shots and rarely makes a mistake. Bob himself admits that "speed is my greatest asset, because I'm not big enough to take a big forward inside." The Bucks rookie duo of Alcindor and Dandridge turned out to be the Bucks biggest offensive guns in playoff competition against the 76ers and the Knickerbockers. Alcindor rammed in 35.2 points a game while Dandridge, nicknamed the Greyhound, was next with 16.3. During a fabulous collegiate career at Norfolk State, Bob set a host of school records including 53 points in one game while averaging 25.5 points during his career. He averaged 32.8 as a senior. Norfolk State ranked as one of the top scoring teams in college ball. "They play run and shoot at Norfolk," commented Coach Costello, "so it wasn't hard for Bob to adjust to N.B.A. play. But the biggest surprise for us was his defensive play. He's quick and has good hands and came up with some mighty big steals for us." Bob's highest scoring games last season were 31-point outbursts against Cincinnati on January 7, 1970 and at Seattle on February 1, 1970.

How Acquired: Draft, Fourth Round, 1968

Bucks broadcaster Eddie Doucette calls Greg Smith "Captain Marvel." The following incident is one of the reasons why. In one of the playoff games at New York, Greg banged into teammate Bob Dandridge and wound up with two wounds, one in his upper lip and one in his lower. Trainer Arnie Garber installed two quick stitches in each lip and Greg was out of action for only four minutes and 30 seconds of playing time. "He's our spark, our life," says Bucks Coach Larry Costello. "He makes us go. He has the knack of covering great distances and a sense of being in the place where the ball is." Greg had come to the Bucks as an unheralded fourth-round draft choice but his soaring leaps and his hustling demeanor quickly made him a crowd favorite. He was the leading rebounder in 14 Bucks games last season, second only to Lew Alcindor, and his 712 total rebounds was runnerup on the team to Lew's 1,190. When he first came to the Bucks, Greg was given a trial as guard but he has played mainly at forward for the past two seasons, except when Coach Costello occasionally calls on him to defense the opponents high scoring guards. Oscar Robertson, now a teammate, said that Greg was one of the toughest defenders he performed against last season. Greg had an outstanding career at Western Kentucky. As a Sophomore, he and brother, Dwight, paced Western into the N.C.A.A. Mid-East regional, only to lose to the Cazzie-Russell-led Michigan team, 80-79, when Greg was called for fouling Cazzie on a jump ball and Cazzie sunk the deciding free throw. Dwight was tragically killed in an auto accident following the 1967 season after being a second-round draft choice of the Los Angeles Lakers. Greg's highest scoring game in pro ranks was 26 points against Cincinnati on March 1, 1970. Greg has played in 140 consecutive games for the Bucks.

CAPTAIN MARVEL

DICK CUNNINGHAM

Age: 24 Date of Birth: July 11, 1946
Height: 6-10 Weight: 252
Hometown: Canton, Ohio
High School: South, Canton, Ohio
College: Murray State, 1968
How Acquired: Trade from Phoenix, September, 1968

A last minute acquisition prior to the start of the 1968 season, Dick became the Bucks regular center by the end of the year when Wayne Embry came up with back problems. Then Lew Alcindor arrived and Dick's second year found him back in a reserve role. But Dick accepts this turn of fortune philsophically — "Lew put us into the playoffs and that's money in the bank." A well conditioned athlete, Dick moves his huge frame around with remarkable ease. As a junior at Murray State, he led the nation in rebounding with a 21.8 per game average, and as a senior, his work helped his team to a tie for the Ohio Valley Conference title. Dick played a season of football at South in Canton, where a teammate was Dick Himes, now a regular offensive tackle with the Green Bay Packers. Dick was also a place-kicker and received offers from Baltimore and Dallas but decided to stick with basketball. His highest scoring pro game was a 16-point effort against Baltimore on Feb. 14, 1969.

BOB GREACEN

Age 23 Date of Birth: Sept. 15, 1947
Height: 6-7 Weight: 206
Hometown: Merchantville, New Jersey
High School: Merchantville
College: Rutgers, 1969
How Acquired: Draft, Second Round, 1969

Bob Greacen made his pro debut last November against the New York Knicks, took seven shots from the floor and four at the free throw line and made them all, grabbed six rebounds and had three assists. He had not played until then because of ankle problems. However, he didn't see much action from that point on and after appearing in one playoff game against Philadelphia, he reported for Army duty. At Rutgers Bob really didn't blossom until his senior year when he scored 21.3 points a game and his college coach Bill Foster believes Bob is just now coming into his own. He has good jumping ability and timing and hits the basket with good consistency on a variety of shots. He scored 46 points as a senior against Colgate, hitting on 19 of 29 attempts. He started at center on the '67 Rutgers N.I.T. squad and then led his school to a '69 berth in that tourney as a forward when Rutgers had a 21-4 mark, best in school history. Bob was married last March and wife Lynn attended Mt. Holyoke College in Massachusetts.

BOB BOOZER

Age: 33 Date of Birth: April 26, 1937
Height: 6-8 Weight: 225
Hometown: Omaha, Nebr.
High School: Tech
College: Kansas State '59
How Acquired: Trade from Seattle with Lucius Allen for Don Smith and cash September 18, 1970

Bob added offensive punch to the Seattle team last season and was particularly effective in the final half of the season. During the last 41 games, he averaged 17 points a game, shooting a blazing 53% from the field. He was the only Sonic to play in all 82 games. A first round draft choice of Cincinnati following a fine college career at Kansas State, Bob was a member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic cage team. The trade which brought him to the Bucks was the fourth player swap in which he has been involved during his 10-years in the N.B.A. He had his finest scoring seasons during three years with the Chicago Bulls, hitting a personal high average of 21.7 in 1968-69. His single game high in the pros was a 42 point effort. Bob makes his off-season home in Omaha where he is involved in several business ventures.

LUCIUS ALLEN

Age: 23 Date of Birth: September 26, 1947
Height: 6-2 Weight: 175
Hometown: Kansas City, Kans.
High School: Wyandotte
College: U.C.L.A. '68
How Acquired: Trade from Seattle with Bob Boozer for Don Smith and Cash, September 18, 1970

Lucius was Seattle's number one draft choice last season and despite coming off the bench most of the season, he averaged 9.8 points a game and tied for runner-up to Len Wilkens in assists for the Sonics. He averaged 4.2 assists per game. An All-American at U.C.L.A., Lucius teamed with Bucks superstar Lew Alcindor on two Bruin national championship teams. Including a 21-0 freshman record, the Bruins with Alcindor and Allen won 80 games and lost one during Allen's stay at U.C.L.A. Lucius averaged 15.5 points as a sophomore and 15.1 as a junior. An exciting performer, he has exceptional quickness and tremendous jumping ability and shot 47% from the field during his two varsity seasons at U.C.L.A. His collegiate point high for a single game was 37. His pro point high game was 28 points and his single game assist high is 13. A high school All American at Wyandotte High of Kansas City, Kansas, he majored in sociology at U.C.L.A. An adept ballhandler and playmaker in his own right, the Bucks feel that Allen's apprenticeship under the greatest playmaker of all time, Oscar Robertson, could help considerably in eventually making him one of the N.B.A.'s top stars.

GARY FREEMAN

Age: 22 Date of Birth: July 25, 1948
Height: 6-9 Weight: 208
Hometown: Boise, Idaho
High School: Borah, Boise, Idaho
College: Oregon State, 1970
How Acquired: Draft, First Round, 1970

The Bucks first round draft choice, Gary was a three-year starter at Oregon State and had a 13.6 career point average on 965 points, eighth highest total in school history. Three other former Beavers are now in the N.B.A. — Mel Counts, Loy Petersen, and Dave Gambee. Former State Coach Paul Valenti describes Gary as a "heck of a shooter, both outside and inside. He's loyal and a good worker. His point totals are impressive when you consider that we played a control type game." Gary missed the first four games of his senior season because of an N.C.A.A. ruling that he participated in an alumni basketball game at his high school. He was originally suspended for the entire season, but O.S.U. authorities appealed the ruling and the N.C.A.A. lifted the suspension.

BILL ZOPF

Age: 22 Date of Birth: June 7, 1948
Height: 6-1½ Weight: 170
Hometown: Monaca, Pennsylvania
High School: Monaca
College: Duquesne, 1970
How Acquired: Draft, Second Round, 1970

Often termed a "coach on the floor," Bill helped Duquesne to three straight post season tournaments and a 56-19 record during his career. It was in the 1969 N.C.A.A. Eastern Regional that Bill sunk a 79-foot shot against St. Joseph's (Pa.). Bill moves around the basketball court like he was born on it and his quickness and speed earned him the natural nickname of "Zip." His 999 career points rank him as the ninth highest scorer in Duquesne history. He had a grade point average of 3.78, ninth best in a class of 500 at Duquesne, and he majored in history. He barely missed receiving a Rhodes Scholarship and for the past two seasons was chosen to the College Academic All American team. Bucks Coach Larry Costello says: "Bill plays the game the way it should be played."
